A very warm welcome to yet another bumper issue of your very own Newsletter.

Yet again, we have an action packed month of events in the area followed by many in September too. It does surprise me sometimes when some people say "there is nothing to do in Sedbergh" but looking in our pages, there is too much to do. Even so, there are still many events that do not appear in our pages so organisers, please let us have your details for the benefit of everyone.

DENT PARISH COUNCIL

At the July meeting, David Hartley was elected to fill the vacant post of Vice Chair, and the issue of parking around The Green was raised in the regular Public Forum item. The resignation of John Ioannou, the Parish Clerk, was received and arrangements were made to recruit his successor.

As usual, the full Parish Council minutes are published on the Dentdale website www.dentdale.com. Parking in Dent

A member of the public raised the problem of vehicles parking near the junction of Flintergill with The Green and the inconvenience it causes for residents. Last January The Parish Council had requested Cumbria Highways to provide revised parking restrictions, but so far no progress on this longer term solution had been made. Following discussion, it was agreed to provide slips to be placed on the windscreens of offending vehicles, requesting them to be parked elsewhere, and to contact the police and others to enlist their help. Dent Post Office

Although the replacement of the permanent Post Office counter by an outreach service is not likely to happen before September, the Parish Council was informed that the private business side of Dent Post Office will close on 3rd August. After that date, Dent Stores will provide a number of Highways Stewardship Scheme More details have been given to the Parish Council about the new Highway Stewards scheme. The County Council have appointed a number of Highways Stewards to carry out minor maintenance work on roads and verges throughout the county. The local Steward covers 13 other local parishes besides Dent, and so he will only spend one week in fourteen here. An important part of the scheme is that each Parish Council will have a Parish Representative who will help the Highways Steward to identify problems as they arise. Dent's representative is Geoffrey Woof (Tel: 25424), so please contact him about any matters of concern.

Whilst extra resources from Cumbria Highways to deal with road maintenance are very welcome, this Parish Council and others are not yet convinced that they are adequate for the work that needs to be done, and so we will be closely monitoring the new scheme.

Roadside Verges

Following representation by the Parish Council and a recommendation by the County Council's Ecologist, Cumbria Highways have agreed to bring forward the cutting of the verges in Dentdale to the end of August. In addition, two members of the Parish Council have carried out a survey of all the verges in the Dale to identify places where self-sown saplings are likely to cause a problem, and this information has been passed on to Cumbria Highways.

FRED – A Festival of Public Art across Cumbria

The Parish Council gave its support to a proposal from artist Jenni Danson to put a bright yellow knitted streamer across a field in the Dent area, as part of FRED - a festival of public art taking place across Cumbria this autumn. The purpose of the streamer, which will be pegged to the ground, is to 'bring attention to the landscape and to pay homage to the renowned knitters of Dent'. FRED has become Europe's largest annual festival of site-specific art, and in previous years, over 350 artists have created 164 projects in over 250 locations.

Council Vacancies

Following recent resignations, the Parish Council currently has two vacancies. If you think you might be interested in joining the Council and would like find out more about what is involved, contact me on the telephone number below, or speak to any other member of the Council. Sale of Mowing Equipment

The Playing Field Committee reported that it had managed to sell the old gang mowers and the old ride on mower at auction for £963, which would help meet the costs of maintenance and mowing.

Parish Clerk

Thanks were expressed to John loannou, who resigned as Parish Clerk at the end of July, for the work he has done during his time in the post. Until a new Clerk is appointed, please contact any member of the Parish Council about matters of concern.

Next Meeting

The next Parish Council meeting will be held on August 4th at 7.30pm. As the Sedgwick Room may not be available then, the venue will be notified later. The public is welcome to attend as always.

FRIENDS AND FARMING

Friends of the Lake District (FLD) are the only charity dedicated to protecting and enhancing the landscape of the whole of Cumbria. They have around 7000 members. represent the Campaign to Project Rural England and work to safeguard the special qualities of the county's countryside. FLD recognise the important link between farming, food and the landscape and are working in partnership with farmers in Cumbria to provide opportunities for the general public to learn more about the work undertaken on farms and the range of public goods that farmers provide.

Events on working farms are taking place across the county as part of a wider 'Flora of the Fells Festival' that runs until the end of September. Each event is unique, but they all involve meeting with the farmer and hearing first hand about this traditional, yet very diverse industry. On Wednesday 20th August there is the opportunity to join Harry Hutchinson on his farm at Uldale. If you take the Sedbergh to Kirkby Stephen road, turn off for Fell End looking out for the 'Farm walk' signs. Harry, who is Chairman of the Cumbria Commoners Federation, will lead you on a short walk through his fields and tell you about life as a fell farmer on the commons. The walk will include a demonstration of one of the working dogs Harry has trained and tea and cakes back at the farm. The walk begins at 1.30pm, is free to all, approx 2-3 miles and dogs are allowed on a lead only.

For further details about Farm Events of the 'Flora of the Fells Festival' please visit www. floraofthefells.com or phone Friends of the Lake District on 015397 20788. Carol Douglas

COUNCILLOR KEVIN

Another interesting month with a wide variety of things happening. It began and ended with the processes surrounding the selection of a new Conservative prospective parliamentary candidate for Westmorland and Lonsdale. Today the interview process was concluded and Gareth McKeever, an Oxford graduate was successful. He easily gained more votes in the final round than his three opponents put together. The man is obviously bright and comes from farming stock in Northern Ireland. We have seen a wide variety of candidates over the last month so it is pleasing that in the end a clear majority of the constituency executive supported Gareth to be our next Member of Parliament.

On a much less happy note, in the last issue of Lookaround I tackled the issue of road safely, particularly with respect to motorcycles. Sadly, no sooner was Lookaround on the streets than there was another accident, this time at Potgillholme, tragically in this case involving three motorcycles. This case is all the worse because it has since emerged that the county bought sufficient land to improve visibility at this very point more than a decade ago but apparently forgot that they had done so. However, our editor is quite correct, there are no dangerous roads, it is the users who drive without due regard for the conditions. Last week our SLDC Chief Executive came in for some criticism for voicing his objections to what he considered an overly lenient sentence issued by the local Magistrates Court. A fishmonger had doused a parking attendant, an SLDC employee with some waste water which had contained fish. Clearly the magistrates considered the offence less severe than Mr Ridgway did.

This leads me to wonder whether I am right to criticise a decision of the planning inspectorate; however, I will. A local case depended upon the historical analysis of the site. Many of you will know this is an area where I have some knowledge and understanding. The application was rejected by the YDNP planning committee and the applicant's agent went straight to appeal. The principal reason was the failure of the park accurately to consider the historical of this being clearly given as the reason for appeal, and even clearer evidence being given in support the inspector chose to accept the original YDNP interpretation of the historical evidence without question or reconsideration. Personally I feel he failed in his duty to look afresh at the evidence. Further appeal or judicial review is obviously beyond the reasonable means of any applicant so I find the situation most unsatisfactory. The problem is that their real one and their official one, there are now two versions of history. According to the official history this particular application was outside appraisal. It is of concern that in spite policy. But there can be no doubt that if the real version were accepted it would be within policy and no manner of edict or proclamation can alter the facts. This site had a continuous history of occupation going back into the sixteenth century and that will always be so regardless of what a planning officer or an appeal inspector chooses to assert. They might as well have left the decision to the tooth fairy. The de-briefing over the Appleby just as royalty have two birthdays,

Horse Fair and its ramifications continues. A meeting has been held in Barbon in early July and more will be held. A couple of local residents have challenged me as to why we continue to attend these meetings as our views are obviously being disregarded. Well, I don't think our views are being totally disregarded although not everyone is listening as intently as we might like. But, some progress is being made and those who ARE working to reduce the impact on our community need our support.

On the National Park work continues in imposing Traffic Regulation Orders. Next week an order will be considered for the route from Barth Bridge to Garsdale Foot, one of five routes being looked at and the first wholly in our area. In April I chaired a

Last week on South Lakeland a small group of us went down to London to sit in on a couple of parliamentary scrutiny committees. Half a dozen of us went down the day before and stayed in Imperial College London Halls of Residence. Anyone who uses the trains from Oxenholme will know that that is cheaper than going down on the day, so we were actually saving SLDC money by doing it that way. explain why SATs for 11 year olds had not been marked in time. In the afternoon Jonathan Shaw, the junior Defra minister was visibly terrified as he faced a more generalised grilling from Michael Jack and the rest of the Efra committee. Mr Gibson, the NFU Communications supremo was sitting behind me: I heard him mouth the word "pitiful". Another member of the public thought the proceedings were downright cruel, no matter how poorly the minister was performing.

And finally, in this extremely rain soaked July, Richard Cann, Anne Taylor and I spent a very pleasant afternoon on behalf of Sedbergh and District History Society on the Time Team dig at the railway shaft on top of Rise Hill. In the morning we spoke briefly, very briefly, to Tony Robinson and John Gater. In the afternoon we had a much longer talk with a researcher and with Helen Geake who conducted a short interview. Phil Harding was digging one of the navvy huts next to the shaft along with its associated latrine. Local knowledge meant that Richard and I were able to identify the hut as one of four on the census. I believe that the episode will be shown next April in the usual Time Team slot.

SEDBERGH TOWN BAND Concert in St. Andrew's

On Tuesday 24th June the Town Band gave a concert in St. Andrew's Parish Church as part of the Sedbergh Music Festival 2008.

A varied programme played by the thirty four strong band entertained a large and receptive audience. Conductor and Director of Music Alan Lewis pointed out that many of the numbers played are featured on the C.D., recorded recently by the Band in Dumfries, a venture which is one of a number of events to mark the tenth anniversary of the Band. The C.D., will be available at the Anniversary Concert to be held in Powell Hall on September 27th.

The Band's policy of constructing a programme composed of tried and tested favourites interspersed with recent additions to the repertoire was clearly apparent. New in the first half was a beautiful piece entitled 'Pavane in Blue', whilst the evening ended with an exciting rendition of the demanding film theme 'Pirates of the Caribbean'. Each half of the programme commenced in the traditional way with stirring marches ('Tarka 1,2,3' and 'Slaidburn') whilst familiar numbers from films and popular music provided a ;leasing range of varied entertainment. Both halves included the bagpipe playing of Jim Dillon who, dressed in full highland regalia, demonstrated the great appeal of the instrument. exhibited to its best in the acoustically sympathetic setting of the parish church.

Masterclass - Steve Sykes

On Sunday 29th June the third of the scheduled five Masterclasses arranged as part of the Band's tenth anniversary celebration saw the world renowned tuba player Steve Sykes rehearsing the Band in the morning and giving a recital after lunch.

The Band met in the Sedbergh School Band Room and were introduced by Steve to his warming up and practice techniques. He then rehearsed the Band in Alan Lewis's 'Images of Sedbergh' - a work in three movements: Prelude - 'Black Horse': Pastoral - 'The Howgills': Scherzo - 'Gala Day'. This locally inspired piece will be receiving its first public performance as an item in the Anniversary Concert to be held in Powell Hall in September. Steve's perceptive and sensitive interpretation combined with close attention to details has assisted greatly in developing the piece towards an accomplished performance standard.

In the afternoon his recital was held in the People's Hall and was given before a substantial audience who were treated to a splendid afternoon of exquisite playing, virtuoso display of the capabilities of the instrument in the hands of an expert and thoroughly amusing anecdotes relating to his career as a member of top bands and a solo artiste.

The Band now look forward to the visit of Ian Porthouse (Cornet) on August 10th when his afternoon recital will be given in the U.R.C.

FAMILY MUSINGS

Little children love to play "house" and "shops" and as a little girl I was no exception, and I had the real thing to play "shops" in, both my parents owned shops. Dad had one in the village which he took over from his mother and which in turn I took over from him, we sold just about anything, men could get measured for a suit (very embarrassing for young men having me as a young woman measuring their 'inside leg') children could spend pocket money on toys, I remember Cap Guns being very popular, ladies could buy Pyrex Dishes, Curtain Hooks, Hen Rings, tins of Paint, yard brooms, garden twine and tourists could purchase gifts and local postcards. We had 4 windows to arrange regularly. Gents, Ladies, Toys and Hardware, and at Christmas really went to-town with the decorations. Small children would press their faces up against the window panes in excited anticipation and Mummy would come inside to ask Dad if something could be 'put by' until Christmas. Dad also filled up large leather packing cases and went 'Travelling' around the dale selling his goods, people still talk about "Billy Middleton" coming to their home.

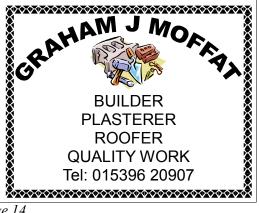

Mum had a shop in Sedbergh, "Sedgwicks" selling ladies and children's wear. Haberdashery, and a few gents things imported from Dads shop. Upstairs in the Showroom many ladies tried on dresses and hats before family weddings and on Gala Days huge Union Jack Flags were hung from the windows in celebration, and also when one other

'girls' got married at the church opposite the flags were unfurled for them. Right up at the top was a flat, this was where we played 'house' when not playing 'shop' at the counter on the upstairs landing. Happy memories of happy times, and here we are with our daughters about to embark on a new venture in the same place where Granny used to work. Wouldn't she have been thrilled! Last month I mentioned that life was about to get much more exciting, excitement can of course come in varied forms, we think of it as happy anticipation but it can be part of other emotions as well, and the past few weeks have been something of a roller-coaster of emotions for us as a family. Good news has come and bad news has come but we embrace both with the same enthusiasm and strong will that has seen us through many other adventures in our lives. Of course, daughters new venture lifts our spirits but there have been things to dampen them as well, not least the weather and higher costs of travelling and getting around.

I have been hunting out old copies

I have been hunting out old copies of Lookaround and re-reading

Musings, in Sept 2001 a 52 page edition contained musings about elder daughters cat purring her way into the hearts of everyone at the Vets, and the arrival of the twins Alex & Charlie; Feb 2002 was about collecting all elder daughters belongings and her coming home from Durham and the kids objected to my wacky messages on my answer phone, the outgoing ones that is! In May 2003 hubby had had 30 sets of twin Lambs in one day and we were on count-down for elder daughters 21st. I need your help.

I am a great hoarder, are you? The idea of compiling a book of Family Musings was first suggested some years ago but put on the back-burner, now it is firmly at the front of my mind but some of the early ones were 'saved' on our old, now blown up, computer.. The Editors will be able to help but can you? Do get in touch via the Lookaround office.

Our 'Lookaround' is going greatguns, 88 pages last month, amazing from very small beginnings, an excellent means of advertising and spreading the news about events ongoing and coming-up in our area.

Are you sitting comfortably? I have some sad news, but am sure some people will heave a sigh of relief, this is a very special "Family Musings" in that it is the last one. Yes, that is correct, no more will you be able to turn first to find out what we are up-to, 'we' are not "news" and that is what this Newsletter is all about. Thank you to you all for reading Musings month by month over the years, thank you to those of you who know who I am and tell me how much it has made you laugh and how you enjoy it. Very much appreciated. I am sure that Family Musings will appear somewhere, somehow, someday and I wish "Lookaround" all the very best for the future. Writing this column has been great for me, I have now begun to write a novel which I hope to get published (somehow) for Carers Week 2009, and who knows the other novels might even get finished, my teeth might fit and my 11/2 stone weight loss might increase! We can always dream... meantime daughterin-law hopes that the sales of Lookaround don't suffer too much. Take good care and thank you.

SETTLEBECK HIGH SCHOOL

Monday 7th July 2008

15 Year 8 students spent the day at Salford University at a language enrichment event. This was sponsored by Aim Higher and sought to give participants information about language learning and raise cultural awareness. We enjoyed the cultural market with Tai Chi fan dancing, a chopsticks activity, Arabic script writing and the chance to try on Pakistani traditional dresses amongst other things.

Alison Brown

The day was really good, the journey down was fun. In the morning we did Mandarin Chinese. It : First lesson: Mandarin Chinese. I was interesting and we learned some !had never experienced any Chinese words. Lunch was the best – we got £4 to spend.

Izaak Tyson-Hirst

The whole trip was about languages. The best part was learning languages in the classrooms. I loved learning Chinese. I got a high score in the test!!! The multi-cultural market was really fun as well. I really enjoyed myself.

Bethany Orr

It took about 2 hours to get there. It was raining when we arrived but we were all really excited about the day ahead. Firstly, we went into a big hall and a woman told us all about languages and why they are useful.

so was looking forward to it. She taught us how to say hello, which is "Ni hao" and how to match up families to a multi-cultural market and an and say your name too. Then we had Arabic lesson. The day was brilliant. a really good lunch. Then we went to the market where they write your name in Arabic and do a Tai Chi fan dance and you learn how to use chopsticks correctly and do a quiz. Then we went to learn Arabic and did similar things to those we did in Chinese – it was really good. We went back to the hall for prize-giving. Tom Knevitt and Samantha won. prizes. The day was over - what a wonderful day and a great experience had a dinner which was FANTASTIC! and I may want to do languages in the future. Adam Scarr

Madam Brown and Mr Burridge took 15 students to Salford University. When we first got there we were all excited. First we went to a Mandarin Chinese class where we learnt all sorts of excellent things. After that we had a break for something to eat and drink. After that we did a Chinese guiz which was fab. Then we went for lunch which was really good. Then, after lunch, we went to this market in the university where we did all sorts of different things. I learnt how to spell my name in Arabic. After the market we went to an Arabic class, which I thought was the best. Even though it was pouring down with rain, it didn't ruin the day.

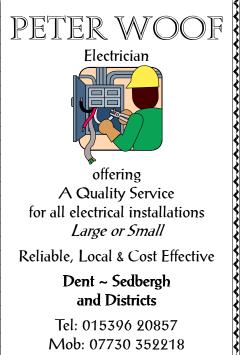

Emma Postlethwaite

When we arrived we went into a big hall where there were lots of different schools as well. Then we went into a classroom to learn Chinese, which I really enjoyed. After our lesson we have a Chinese guiz then lunch. The lunch was really nice. Then we went Rosie Mason

We learnt Mandarin Chinese and Arabic. The dinners there were nice and cheap. I enjoyed it when we did the game in the Chinese lesson and we had monster masks which we had to name in Chinese. I enjoyed the Zoe Underhill whole day.

We learnt how to introduce ourselves and greet others in Mandarin Chinese and Arabic. We We also did a treasure hunt. We had fantastic fun and an educational day. Adam Roberts

HISTORY SOCIETY

Visit to Middleton Hall and Middleton Church on Wednesday July 9th 2008

Thirty members of the Sedbergh & the kind District History Society met at Middleton Hall on July 9th by kind permission of Mr and Mrs D Watson. The Hall is one of only ten in South Westmorland with a 15th century curtain wall and a hall dating back to the 1380's. The Hall is still occupied and the farm still worked. Kevin Lancaster and Richard Cann acted as our guides. Both stressed the need for more work to be done on the history of this unique site.

The Middleton family was here before 1380 and disappeared during the late 1600's. The family fought on the Royalist side in the Civil War, losing three sons. They also had to pay a heavy fine to the Parliamentarians. The family went into decline, eclipsed by the Otways to the North. By 1700 the hall was no longer the seat of the family. If they had prospered the house would have been rebuilt in a new style in the 17th or 18th century. So it is because of the family's misfortunes that we have this unique building today.

We entered through the 15th century Gatehouse. There is no evidence of a Peel Tower, probably it would have been unnecessary as the Border Raids in this area were c1310-1320, in the reign of Edward II. In the 15th century crenellated walls were built to impress rather than for defence! The old kitchen was semi-detached from the main building, as usual, because of fire risk. Though most of the kitchen has gone there is still the screens passage between the kitchen site and the hall. The three doors leading to the kitchen, the buttery and the cellar are still there. Above, on the hall side is the remains of a music gallery.

The date 1647 is carved on the south front of the hall but the carving is of poor quality, indicating the declining state of the family at that time.

The great hall through the screens passage is a lofty room which would have had a dais and long table at the east end. The huge fireplace is still at the opposite end. It is said the original tables are still in the area. The stones around the north door and the fireplace show no symmetry or coherence of style. This is typical of the time when the aim was to build in a new style regardless of whether it fitted with the old one.

On the south wall is a mullioned window with a delicate piece of amber coloured glass. It has two geometric flower designs, a Middleton monogram M, with A and R within it, the initials of the husband and wife, and the religious symbol IHS.

There is a small modern radiator by the east door, the only concession to modern comfort! The lofty room with stone walls must be very difficult to heat in winter!

Through the east door lies the withdrawing room. This has a much lower ceiling with beams and dark Elizabethan panelling covering all but the west wall and half of the south wall beyond the fireplace. The lozenge and circle design dates it. This room is very dark with only one mullioned window, but this was common at the time.

It is very likely a house of this grandeur would have had a chapel but the remains of one have not yet been discovered. Likewise there must have been a well which remains undiscovered.

One other point of interest is the earthwork in the field behind the hall. For a long time it was thought to be a Roman Signal Station. This has now been discounted but it is of Romano British origin.

Church where we were met by Peter Yorke, one of the Churchwardens. The churchyard has many 18th century tombstones, some, unfortunately, are now too eroded to read. A Roman milestone can be seen clearly from the south side. It is thought the Roman road followed the back road past the present day farms to the east of the A683. The latter with all its bends is most certainly not Roman!

There was a chapel first built on this site in 1634, The present church was consecrated in 1879. Mr Moore of Grimeshill was the principal benefactor. A single bell dated 1723 hangs in a bellcote on the roof. The woodwork was all crafted by a Mr Martin of Sedbergh.

This small church has some fine stained glass. The splendid east window has three lights. St Paul and St John flank the larger centre light representing the ascension. The most unusual window is in the north wall of the nave, depicting Jesus healing the blind man who kneels on one knee, clearly displaying two right feet!

A plaque records the death of two men of this small parish who died in the First World War. A black slab on the wall near the altar commemorates. Mrs Anne Moore of Grimeshill who died of smallpox in 1772. It is poignantly 'placed to her memory by her disconsolate husband.'

It was a most interesting and enjoyable afternoon for the members of SDHS. Christine Wood

TIM FARRON MP

The last few weeks before the Summer Parliamentary Recess have been busy ones. I had an interesting meeting with Dent Parish Councillors to discuss the development of their Parish Plan, Parish plans are, I believe, a great step forward for local communities. They enable residents of a town or village to discuss and agree what is important to them and draw up a list of projects they believe are needed for the continued health of their area. In Dent we discussed the plight of farming in the area, the issue of second homes the consequences this has on affordable housing and the demand for local services like schools in the area and the current issues surrounding the provision of health care in the area. I am a great believer in decisions being made as close as possible to the people involved and the advent of Parish Plans is a step along this road. I will do everything I can to support the implementation of any plan when it is agreed.

The news that the Minister for Rural Affairs, Jonathan Shaw MP, has promised to launch a consultation on making the members of the Boards of National Parks accountable through being elected is brilliant as far as I am concerned. The Yorkshire Dales National Park has so much power over what goes on in this area that it is only right that the people who live within its boundaries should have a direct say in the decisions that they make. I have written to the Minister to ask him to start the consultation as soon as possible. If you have any views on this matter then please let me know and I will incorporate them into my submission.

On the subject of the National Park, it is great news that, having finally worked out where the Yorkshire Dales National Park is (with a bit of help from me), the Government have formally announced there will be a brown sign on the M6 at junction 37 directing tourists into the Park. The only frustration is that, for reasons I cannot understand, they cannot put the sign up until October, after the main holiday season is over. At least we can take some consolation from the knowledge that for all future summers tourists will not be able to drive along our part of the M6 without being aware that they could turn off and enter the beautiful Yorkshire Dales. Hopefully this will see visitor numbers rising next year.

Finally, I have been keeping up the pressure on Defra to start Blue Tongue immunisation in Cumbria or at the very least announce a date when they will be starting. Leaving Cumbrian animals susceptible to this dreadful disease for such a long time is frankly incompetent. Sadly I am starting to realise that it is wishful thinking to expect anything better from Defra these days. They should have ordered sufficient vaccine in the first place to ensure that all animals in the country could be treated as fast as possible. The sight of many of the Hedgerows are such an everyday feature of the British landscape that few of us ever stop to wonder why they are where they are or why they look different from region to region.

Hedgerows

Hedgerows were originally used as field dividers because they were cheaper than fences or walls and were self-renewing. Some hedgerows date from Roman times. though most were established between the Middle Ages and the 1860 enclosure movements. Along with earth banks and ditches, hedges were also used to contain livestock along the old tracks and drove roads (although around the fells of Sedbergh, the upland drove roads are usually bounded by walls since hedges would be almost impossible to establish in some of these bleak locations).

The old tracks evolved before a formal road system and because they have been largely unmodified, still retain some of their physical, biological and archaeological features. Consequently, the hedgerows growing along parish boundaries, farm and drove roads may include remnants of the ancient trees and shrubs that can be important in maintaining genetic diversity. They are boundary structures that share characteristics of both woodland edge and scrub habitats thus providing 'corridors' for many animal and plant species.

Nationally over 600 plant, 1,500 insect, 65 bird and 20 mammal species are known to live or feed in hedgerows. They also support large numbers of aphid predators and provide a free source of biological control. Hedgerows are enormously important for wildlife forming refuges for many species of birds and small mammals by offering breeding habitats, food, protection from predators and shelter from the elements. They provide valuable food plants for insects and butterflies as well as security for wildlife accessing field margins.

The large trees such as oak, sycamore and ash are often left to grow within the hedge, sometimes forming boundary markers. They

Next time you take a walk around Sedbergh, try identifying some of the smaller species. You should be able to find hazel, hawthorn, blackthorn, elder, holly, field maple, guelder rose, wild cherry, dog rose, willows and maybe some others.

Laying hedges is a traditional skill carried out in the winter months and styles vary throughout the country. In Cumbria there are two distinct methods of hedgelaying: the Cumberland and the Westmorland. The former is typical of the northern part of the county where the hedge is grown on a bank and when laid is only about 1 foot high but can be 3 foot wide covering the bank. Around Sedbergh, the Westmorland style is more prevalent, the laid branches being left with more growth on them so that the hedge is quite a bit higher and denser. A mature, well maintained hedge will form a stockproof boundary providing shelter information provided by the Farming from the elements for the farm animals as well as an important natural habitat for wildlife.

Most shrubs and trees forming hedges only produce flowers, nuts and berries on the previous season's growth so trimming or flailing every year means they provide little food for butterflies, insects, birds and mammals. Trimming hedges in rotation will ensure a continuous food supply and the new Environmental Stewardship schemes now reward farmers for changing to a less frequent trimming regime to allow for the formation of blossom and berries.

Meetings and farm walks are an invaluable way of sharing this knowledge and exchanging experiences. Please contact your local FWAG office for more information.

FROSTROW WI

This month is two for the price of one because I forgot to do last month's report! A sign of old age perhaps? (Join the Club! Ed) June is the month for our Summer Outing and this year we went to Clearbeck Garden near Wray. It was a lovely evening as we went through the gates and entered a different world. Bronwen made us very welcome as she led us onto the sunny terrace and told us how the garden had developed from fields into what is now a stunning garden with a surprise around every corner.. We wandered through the garden at our leisure and soaked up the peace and tranquillity before we had to tear ourselves reluctantly away. We went on to enjoy a delicious meal at Bridge House Farm in Wray. What a lovely evening!

Our July meeting was held in People's Hall as usual. We were very pleased to welcome Rose Sanderson as a new member and hope she will enjoy her time with us. We were sorry to hear that Pauline Mather has been in hospital again. We all send her our good wishes. We held a minutes silence for Jean Conchie who died recently and who was a member of Frostrow WI before leaving the area.

The Annual Council Meeting will be held in Kirkby Stephen Grammar School this year. Linda Hopkins has agreed to be our delegate. Sue Sharrocks very kindly joined us for the evening and gave us her account of the AGM which was held in the

Echo Arena in Liverpool

The walking group had an excellent day walking up Pen-y-Ghent from Horton in Ribblesdale. The weather was good – not too hot and we made good progress. The last section before the summit was a bit tricky (well, hair-raising for some!) but everyone managed very well. It was cold and very windy on top so we were thankful for the stone shelter where we could eat our lunch in reasonable comfort. Many thanks to Pat Ramsden for supplying the Mars bars! The descent was relatively easy and we had time to call at the café for tea and cakes. Thanks to Pat for leading the walk and looking after everyone.

Anne Petyt welcomed Denise Williamson whose topic for the evening was "The Bowen Technique". Denise had suffered from a frozen shoulder and had tried various treatments, none of which had helped. A newspaper article about the Bowen Technique prompted her to make enquiries. The information received included details of a training course, which Denise took up. During the course she received treatment on the shoulder and after three sessions it was cured!

The Bowen Technique is an holistic therapy – it treats the whole body using very light gentle movements. There is no manipulation or hard tissue massage. Very small moves are performed on the body and then the body is left to do the rest. The technique can be used on anyone form newborn babies to the very frail and elderly. It can be used on a variety of conditions including sciatica, back and neck problems, tennis elbow, asthma, chronic fatigue and sports injuries. Ruth France thanked Denise for an interesting and informative talk.

Linda Hopkins won the raffle and Jean Mitchell won the competition for a hand-made get well card.

We meet on the first Wednesday of the month in People's Hall at 7.30pm. Visitors and new members will be made very welcome. Come and join us!

A PLAN FOR DENTDALE

The Dentdale Parish Plan As reported in last month's Lookaround, the survey part of the Dentdale Parish Plan has now been completed, and the Steering Group is beginning to draw up the action plan.

The surveys identified 19 bodies that are responsible for the issues raised by residents, Including the County Council and the National Park, local NHS trusts, mobile phone companies and Northern Rail. Following the public meeting in May, the Steering Group has started to set up meetings and discussions with each of them.

In addition, 22 projects were identified that can be undertaken by the local community and these will form the basis of a plan of action for the next five years or so. Prioritising each of these projects will depend not only on how well it addresses residents' concerns, but also on the extent to which people are willing to become involved in bringing it about. Some are extremely complex, and will require both careful planning and a strong commitment from those involved. Others are simpler, and can be implemented more quickly; some have already been started independently of the Parish Plan.

After the public meeting in May, a number of people offered to help with these projects. As a result of this support, work on three of them will be starting shortly and others will follow in due course. The first three are:

- improving the playground equipment in the village
- setting up some community litterpicking
- forming a network of second home/holiday cottage owners

The full list of the 22 community projects appears below. If you would like to join those who have already volunteered to be involved, please contact the Parish Plan Secretary. Heather Fraser, on 25727 or email dentpp@btinternet.com.

How lucky we were with the weather for our July outing as following four days of rain, the forecast promised a dry day with rain late afternoon! It was correct too! We set off from Dent car park for lunch at the newly refurbished Bridge House Farm Café/ Restaurant in Wray. For most of us, it was the first visit and first impressions different vista and from the edge of were encouraging. The car park was spacious and the little mini garden centre was a delight to behold! Many plants and pots one could easily buy to take home. The Bridge House farm complex occupies a riverside setting but lunch was taken inside in the first floor restaurant where the food was imaginatively presented and the service attentive. There was a good selection of gifts and crafts in the ground floor area to tempt us as we queued to pay for our meal!

It was just a short drive to Clearbeck important need for fowl, birds and

House and the promised tour of the gardens with the weather still holding. a fact that the owners Peter and Bronwen Osborne couldn't quite believe either! They had purchased the property as a ruin, and since then the garden has been evolving to the beautiful, peaceful, inspiring place that it is today. Every path gives a the property, one can catch sight of the Ingleborough. Peter has his artist studio tucked down one of the inviting paths.

Much thought and a great deal of symbolic planting was evident. Some lower, rather boggy fields were dug out in the early nineties to form a lake and now with planting of hedging and an island of Norfolk reed, it looks well established! Peter explained that with many local farmers having filled in the traditional farm ponds, it fulfils an insects in the area, and this year, he had caught sight of an Osprey touching down on its way to more northern nesting sites! The spoils from excavating the lake area have been put to good use, banking up to form a mound for a small temple ruin, also augmenting the rather thin top soil for a vegetable garden. Walking along the edge of the lake one comes to a sunken boathouse with Loci Rati over the door. Not we are told, a reference to "Wind in the Willows" but rain for a short business meeting. Latin for "planned places" which appears to be the guiding principle of this fascinating garden!

We sat for tea on the terrace and then moved to a gazebo-covered area in deference to the onset of the

QUEEN'S GARDENS

Recently, Sedbergh and District History Society discovered an undated plan for the Queen's Garden by Thomas Mawson whose firm was the contractor for the work. The layout of the present garden suggests that the plan was closely followed.

The first reference to the garden is in the minutes of Sedbergh Parish Council for October 13th 1902 when the Queen's Memorial Committee asked the Council to take over and manage the garden; the Council refused, suggesting that trustees be appointed and a subscription started. It was also stated that Mrs Upton-Cottrell-Dormer did not want to hand over the land until 'it was in proper order'.

In October 1905 Mrs Dormer was ready to convey the land on which the Queen's Garden stood to the Parish Council and, on November 27th 1905, it was proposed and accepted that gardens be taken over on favourable conditions. The deed was signed by the Chairman of the Parish Council on March 26th 1906.

Despite its later transfer to the Parish Council the Queen's Garden was formally opened on 31st October 1902. The opening was fully reported in the Westmorland Gazette of 8th November 1902 and also in the Sedberghian magazine of November 1902 which opens:

'On Friday, October 31st, the Cross in the garden dedicated to the late Queen was unveiled by the Lord Bishop of Ripon. The School Rifle Corps and the Town Volunteers attended in full uniform, and lined the paths. The School witnessed proceedings from the slope below the Cross.'

Extracts follow from the account in the Westmorland Gazette of 8th November 1902:

In spite of the wretched weather there was a large and representative company present on Friday at the opening of the "Queen's Garden" – about half-way between the station and the town – and the unveiling of the Queen Victoria Memorial Cross at Sedbergh by the Bishop of Ripon.

The land for the garden – over two acres in extent – was generously given to the people of Sedbergh by Mrs Upton-Cottrell-Dormer, of Ingmire Hall, who has also been at the entire expense of turning this land into a beautiful garden, laid out in elaborate style by Mr Mawson, of Windermere. At the summit of the ground is the grey limestone cross, some 16 feet high, bearing the inscription "Victoria, Queen, Empress, 1837-1901:

revered, beloved, remembered." This cross and the tablet in Sicilian marble on the fountain in Finkle Street were raised by local subscriptions. Both cross and tablet were designed by Messrs. Hicks and Charlewood, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, and executed by Mr Miles of Ulverston. One special feature of interest was that the monument [cross] had excited a larger number of subscriptions than had ever before been given to a single object in Sedbergh.

The inscription on the south face, which was added by request of Mrs Upton-Cottrell-Dormer's legatee sometime after her death in 1907, reads:

'These grounds were laid out and presented to the town of Sedbergh as a lasting memorial of the glorious reign of Queen Victoria by her faithful subject Florence Anne Upton-Cottrell-Dormer.'

RECYCLING NEWS

During May a new recycling record was set in South Lakeland with the equivalent of 180 double decker buses being saved from the rubbish tip.

For the first time ever last month, South Lakeland recycled 53% of all its waste - something that has never before happened in the history of the district. A massive 2,345 tonnes of recyclables including glass, cans, clothes, grass, plastic and paper waste were collected in May - beating the 2,050 tonnes of domestic throwaway waste that goes to landfill.

This amazing figure is the equivalent weight of over 180 London double decker buses, which weigh 13 tonnes each. Before we introduced kerbside recycling in 2003, 90 per cent of all rubbish produced by households across the district, went in the bin and then ended up on landfill sites. It also means the area has smashed a Government target to be recycling 50 per cent of all its waste by 2010 - two years ahead of schedule.

Our portfolio holder for Environment and Sustainability, Brenda Woof said: "There is no doubt that to have 53 per cent of our rubbish being recycled represents a major milestone for South Lakeland. It is finally becoming part of our culture and we have to say a big thank you to the residents of South Lakeland for helping us achieve this, and to help us improve it in the months and years to come."

Councillor Brendan Jameson, Leader of SLDC, said: "The council has worked hard to implement recycling throughout the whole of the district and the results of this are now being seen. I would like to thank the residents of South Lakeland, as we could not have achieved this result without their enthusiasm to recycle. I would also like to thank the Cumbria Strategic Waste Partnership for their help and support which has enabled SLDC and the local community to improve the environment for everyone."

MUSIC FESTIVAL 2008

The Music Festival proved to be a well attended and most enjoyable event. Over 30 events in the space of two weeks, with such a variety of programmes that catered for all musical tastes. There were many highlights - the brilliance of Besses o'th'Barn Band, the amazing talent of the youngsters from Chetham's, the fun of 'Trial by Jury', the emotion of Schubert's Winterreise, the quality of Martin Roscoe's Beethoven, the early music in the setting of Brigflatts and the beauty and artistic excellence of Alla's singing all come to mind in an overall greatly enjoyed Festival.

Some 250 performers took part in the Festival and audience numbers exceeded 1,500. This was the fifth Festival, which now seems to have an established place in Sedbergh cultural life.

The Committee are grateful to all Patrons and Sponsors who enable the Festival to survive and to the faithful members of the audience, who have turned out in increasing numbers this year.

Not least our thanks go to the tireless ladies who provide the lunches and dinners which have become an essential part of the Festival. Their efforts alone raised over £2,000.00 for church funds. Well done ladies!

Plans begin now for the next Festival in 2010.

LAST OF THE RED HOT LOVERS

Barney Cashman at the age of 47 wants to join the sexual revolution before it's too late, but Barney Cashman is a gentle sober soul with a true blue wife of 23 years and absolutely no experience in adultery, so he fails in each of three seductions.

First he tries a flaunting sexpot who likes cigarettes, whiskey and husbands other than her own. Barney is not properly set up for such compulsions, especially in his mother's apartment, so he flunks the course. But he's got a better idea; a kooky actress friend should be just the ticket.

But she turns madder than a hatter. So that leaves his wife's best friend. But unfortunately the friend is a sternly driven moralist who sees sin round every bend. Obviously Barney was born to failure.

Vague Theatre Company's summer 2008 tour takes on Neil Simon's excellent play Last of the Red Hot Lovers. Performed 'in the round' VTC transform your village hall into Barney's mothers living room; the scene for his many attempts at

DENTDALE METHODIST CHAPEL

We have just heard of the death, in hospital in Blackpool, of Mr. Joe Uren. Joe mowed the grass and generally kept the graveyards tidy for us when he used to spend part of the week at their cottage in The Laning. He was a kind man and a dear friend and we mourn his passing.

This month is going to be busy. We are supporting the work of Premier Christian Radio by having a Coffee Morning on Saturday 16th, then on Tuesday 19th we are having Teas, Stalls and Games to raise funds and on Sunday 24th at 7 pm An Evening with The Longton Family (see advert) followed by a Buffet Supper. All are welcome.

On Saturday 23rd we will have a stand at the Dentdale Show, sharing our faith and giving away Christian literature. Do drop by and see us.

Due to a new roof being put on to the Memorial Hall our buildings will be used much more, which is good.

The Chapel is open daily for prayer and requests can be left there.

We are linked to BMF (Businessmen's Fellowship) and Aglow (for Ladies) and hope to have a Home Group beginning in the autumn to explore and share faith in Jesus.

Headway, or MET as it is now known is having its holiday week based at Sedbergh Methodist Church from 16th and all are welcome.

Come and find out what MET means!

We will share in the United Service at the Anglican Church on 24th and are linked to "Quiet Garden" on 9th and 10th. God Bless.

SEDBERGH SCHOOL

Relocation of Sedbergh Junior School Sedbergh School has announced that from January 2009, its Junior and Pre-Prep School will be situated on the main School site at Sedbergh. Its current Junior School at Low Bentham will close at the end of 2008.

Commenting on the decision, Headmaster Christopher Hirst said:

'This move has great advantages. It makes much more sense for both schools to be on one site. We will have a Junior School with access to some of the best educational, sports and arts facilities in the North of England. It will strengthen the links between our Junior and Senior Schools and will make SJS the first choice for those parents who want their children to be part of one of the best co-educational schools in the country.'

The Junior School will be open to boys and girls from the age of 4-13 and will welcome both day and boarding pupils as well as offering flexible-boarding. There will be first class boarding facilities for both boys and girls in addition to the new Junior and Pre Prep departments.

'Sedbergh has gone from strength to strength since we went coeducational in the Senior School seven years ago,' said Christopher Hirst 'This move will enable us to build on that success and further strengthen the Sedbergh community.'

JUNE WEATHER

Well it was hardly "Flaming June" more like "Warm, Wet and Windy". The first half of the month brought us a mere 0.63 inches, including 8 days without rain, but the latter part made up for it with avengence. We had 1.24inches on the 17th/18th and several other days with mighty downpours! The total for the month was 4.41 inches enough to fill all the water storage system to overflowing and create a quagmire. The pressure was generally low, as befits a windy month, with a maximum gust of 22.4mph. With all the rain needless to: say that these winds were back in the North Westerly guarter. Only in the drier part of the month did we get typical temperatures for the month with 6 days reaching the 70sF and a maximum of 77.9F. We also had some cool nights with temperatures dropping into the 30sF with a minimum of 37.2F.

The warm, wet weather certainly put a spurt on the growth of plants, especially the weeds! It also produced ideal conditions for midges to hatch in every drop of water available making mornings and evenings unpleasant with their incessant biting. We had a nasty fly strike on a tup's horns. The flies had laid eggs in every crease and maggot oil brought maggots from every conceivable place around the horns. Fortunately we had caught it in time before the maggots had got too deep. The rooks and jackdaws have had a good breeding season judging by the numbers I have to chase from my chicken run on a regular basis. I am sure I am feeding more of the crow family than chickens and ducks! The blackbirds got another clutch away in the shippon. We have had another family of long tailed tits through. They are truly real clowns. There are plenty of great tits and blue tit youngsters coming to feed. "Our" blue tits fledged five young. I have had to stop filling our feeders away from the house as the jackdaws emptied these in a matter of minutes. I did this when I saw the woodpecker feeding just outside the kitchen window. So far the jackdaws haven't ventured here. The swallows still haven't nested with us and as I mentioned last month we have very few around. When I can get back onto the internet I will have to see if this a local or a national trend

MARKET FAYRE

I was extremely disappointed to learn that this year's Market Fayre had been cancelled, due apparently to there being too much on at the same time! (See Westmorland Gazette 18 July 2008)

When the Fayre was first put on in 2001 it was held on a Wednesday, traditional Market Day, to bring local residents together again after Foot and Mouth.

By popular request the Fayre was moved for 2002 and subsequent vears to August Bank Holiday Saturday so more people could attend. This dovetailed in well with Dent's annual event and provided a weekend full of fun and activity.

Whilst we were delighted to welcome visitors to the Market Favre it should be remembered that it was primarily put on for local residents and their families to enjoy a day together and without their support would not have continued successfully.

Sedbergh Chamber of Trade kindly loaned the Committee monies to set up the Favre which due to the generous support of those attending was paid back within a short space of time. It was then decided that any profits made which were not needed to support the next Favre would be donated to local causes.

As it would appear that the Favre will no longer take place remaining profits should be distributed within the local community as originally planned and it is hoped the Chamber of Trade will publish a list of recipients in due course.

After the initial five years the original organizing Committee felt it was time for new blood to have a hand in running this event. Sedbergh needs the younger population to become involved in such events for them to continue and not die out as the Fayre appears to have done.

On behalf of the original Committee. I would like to thank all who supported the Fayre in time, money Lyn McLennan and attendance.

Time Team in Garsdale

Time Team is a group of archaeologists and historians who spend three days investigating a site of interest. Their efforts are televised on Channel 4 and therefore, as would the material excavated from the be expected, the team contains some colourful characters.

Time Team spent three days in July investigating an archaeological site in Garsdale. The Settle-Carlisle was built over the period 1869-1876 and one of the major constructions on it was a tunnel at Risehill. As a result it was necessary to build a camp above the surface to accommodate the people and machinery required.

Prefabricated huts were erected to house the navvies and their families. Each hut contained a married couple and their family, if they had one, plus a number of navvies who boarded with them.

Two air shafts were constructed and tunnel was raised by machinery to the surface through them. This produced spoil heaps which still run out like fingers from the shafts rising to several metres high in some cases.

Some days before the dig started researchers arrived to consult with members of the Sedbergh & District History Society to discover what was known about the site and those who lived on it. As a result of the help

After a drive along the Coal Road between Garsdale and Dent Station. made difficult by the damage done by 3 log lorries, we drove for over a mile on worse tracks through the forest. We eventually arrived at the base camp where there were parked vehicles, tents and all the equipment needed to film a television programme. Before lunch we wandered around the site watching the digs in progress one of which involved Phil Harding. We also encountered other leading characters including Tony Robinson who fronts the programme. We then joined in the excellent communal lunch and if an army marches on its stomach then Time Team certainly digs on its.

After lunch we met the historians in the team and discussed the sources which give information about the site and the people who had lived there during the railway's construction. Later we were filmed talking to Dr Helen Geake about these topics. having finished that, and after a most interesting and enjoyable day, we set out to return to Sedbergh wondering if we would feature in the televised programme or merely end up on the cutting room floor.

CHRISTIAN AID IN SEDBERGH AND DISTRICT

The committee were delighted to hear the results of Christian Aid Week the Holy Spirit's constant presence. at the AGM and business meeting on the 8th July and wanted to share the good news with all of you who have helped in achieving it.

The annual United Service, shaped and led by the Revd Carole Gotham. was greatly appreciated by all who went for its thought provoking content idrawing the community together and and style. The topical talk and information on Burma from personal experience by the guest speaker, Michael Leigh, had been very helpful indeed. week were: £130 from the United Service collection; a donation of £20; and £2960.74 so far from the House to House collection. (I say "so far" as the Treasurer reports that odd envelopes continue to be handed in! I think they are from people who were away from home during the week.) Mrs Rosemary Handley, who valiantly organises the collection, was concerned that this year there were no collectors for Maryfell, Sycamore or Woodside Road areas so although some of the residents of those areas had collected envelopes from the shop and donated that way, she felt that some had missed the opportunity. If someone reading this would be able to help cover the collection in one or part of these areas next year please let Rosemary (Tel: 21411) or one of the Christian Aid committee members know.

In all a total of £5611.64 has been sent to the Christian Aid office at Warrington meaning that all monies raised are already at work to help people round the world create a way out of poverty. So many thanks to all who have been involved in one way or another, particularly those who work steadily behind the scenes to enable this event to take place. As there is no Market Fayre in Sedbergh this August our next Christian Aid event will be the Coffee Morning on the 15th October in the URC Rooms. Anne Pitt

KIRKBY LONSDALE CHORAL SOCIETY

A plea for Basses

MEN! Your resonance is required in the Bass section of our choir!

Our basses sound so good that we have become particularly partial to their beautiful tone and are therefore seeking to increase the amplification in this department.

Ours is a thriving, non-auditioned choir that has performed a wide and varied repertoire from Mozart to Bernstein for almost 120 years. We aspire to a high musical standard and aim to thrill our concert audiences, performing 2 or three times a year under our esteemed conductor and joined frequently by professional soloists in the beautiful church of St Mary's, Kirkby Lonsdale, beside the river Lune.

Our Society has been asked to perform at the Kendal Christmas Charity Concert in the Westmorland Hall in December, which honour is testimony to our recent successes. Many of our members join the Mary Wakefield Festival Chorus for the opportunity of singing the great works under famous conductors among an enormous number of voices. We also participate in a friendly annual choral evening with other choirs.

We have opportunities in all sections and all ages, women and men and so whether or not you've sung in a choir before, (you do not need to be a

BOOK TOWN NEWS

Here we are half way through the summer and half way through the Festivals programme from the Book Town – We hope readers may have visited the Ideas Festival and enjoyed its challenging talks and presentations.

We would like to just explain the Book Town set-up for those who perhaps are new to the area, visitors and local people who have just discovered the Book Town.

There are 2 companies – Sedbergh Book Town Ltd which is a community company limited by guarantee, this means that it is non-profit making and if any profits are made they must be put back into the company or transferred to the charitable side of the project. The second company is also a charity, Sedbergh Book Town Literary Trust and this it what it was founded to do for the community:-

- a) to promote maintain improve and advance education particularly in the area of Literature and the written word and the formulation preparation and establishment of schemes to render such education accessible to the public.
- b) to promote the education of children and young people by encouraging an interest in and understanding of Literature and the written word and by establishing events and classes spent in doing what we promise above.

Money is earned by the Book Town through running the premises which are known as the Sedbergh TIC or Tourist Office. Everyone knows how valuable the TIC is as a centre for information, to the businesses of the town and to the groups which publicise their events through the TIC, we hope that everyone also enjoys the gifts and books which we sell.

The book shops are all owned individually and do not receive any support at all in the way of grants or subsidies although they have received the shared benefit of advertising leaflets which the Book Town has paid for since 2005. In 2008 the shops have paid for these leaflets themselves and 50,000 have been printed and distributed through Cumbria, Yorkshire, and north Lancashire.

The town as a whole through the Chamber of Trade, together with Farfield Mill and the Book Town were lucky enough to gain a grant from Cumbria County Council of £15,000 and the groups mentioned before have each added £5000 to that total so in £2008 around £33,000 will be spent advertising Sedbergh its attractions and businesses.

Perhaps you have heard our advertising campaign on The Bay and become a Member of the Book Town Lakeland Radio. We are also in the process of making an advertising film and TV programme for Sedbergh which will be ready shortly.

It is a real shame that this money is being spent in a year of such economic turbulence and when normally we would expect a huge upturn in business because of this advertising, we can't guess whether this will happen or whether we will simply hold our own, but it does seem from industry figures that many people might stay at home this year so we may be lucky.

As before when we write about the Book Town we would like to remind everyone that everyone is welcome to which is like becoming a shareholder, or can become a member of the Friends of the Book Town which is more of a social organisation. Please

The Festival of Books and Drama is coming up shortly at the beginning of September. There will be lots of events for children mostly provided in school time and loads of excellent Shakespeare stuff! Its stuff because its not entirely serious, its Shakespeare as a starting point for some really talented peoples flights of fancy! We've also got the Brontes, daring lady travellers, and the very first FRINGE at a festival in Cumbria. Fringe means that YOU get to have a go, or if you're not in time this year its your chance to come along and see what your friends and neighbours have been up to in terms of writing literary masterpieces! Again this is not to mean that this is serious .. no it's a great day out with loads of stuff going on, puppets, theatre, poetry music etc .. come along and see.

This year J R Hall (SPAR) is helping out with funding for the festival, as is Sedbergh School and Garsdale Design and we are incredibly grateful for their donations as funding is getting tighter and tighter.

So please remember the Book Town is for Sedbergh and we really hope that more and more local people enjoy and appreciate our efforts.

NEIGHBOURHOOD FORUM

From the minutes of the meeting held in Dent Memorial Hall on 17th June.

A PLAN FOR DENTDALE

Heather Fraser introduced herself as the Secretary of the Parish Plan Group. She apologised to people who had already heard the presentation but said the Group wanted the Neighbourhood Forum to know what had been achieved since receiving a grant in June 2007. Funding had also been received from Voluntary Action Cumbria and Dent Parish Council.

Heather explained that the Parish local crafts etc. The things per particularly like about Dent designed by a particularly like about Dentda Dent resident and said that the aim of the landscape, environment, the Parish Plan was to safeguard the distinctive character of the area, reflect the views of residents and meet the economic, social and cultural needs of the community.

The group has met with farmers, local businesses and over 60's; has undertaken group and individual work with children; has manned a stall at Dentdale Show and delivered questionnaires to all households. Issues raised include roads, parking, holiday homes, second homes, affordable housing, public transport, local services, health provision, opening times of cafes, promoting local crafts etc. The things people particularly like about Dentdale are the landscape, environment, pursuits and location.

The Parish Plan group were pleased with the response rate to questionnaires (55%). Heather explained the need to involve the community in implementing identified actions under the headings of Economy & Tourism (including the need to form a new Chamber of Trade); Farming; Young People; Community Facilities; Leisure & Recreation: Environment and Transport, stressing that the Parish Council cannot do it on their own.

Heather explained how the Parish Plan group achieved a high return rate on questionnaires (a lot of hard community, security, facilities, outdoor work!) and confirmed Dent Parish Council would be happy to work with Sedbergh Parish Council, who are going through a similar exercise, to look at areas of inter-dependency between the two settlements.

> YORKSHIRE DALES NATIONAL PARK

Paul Wilkinson, Yorkshire Dales National Park Ranger, mentioned the Park's Sustainable Development Fund and two projects currently seeking funding. Fairfield Mill is seeking funding to commission a full design study to progress a proposal for a hydro electric scheme and the Lancashire & Westmorland Hedge

Laying Association is seeking funding to establish an annual hedge laying competition in the YDNPA to promote and improve the traditional management of hedgerows.

Paul listed ongoing work on bridleways and the Rights of Way network (and a donation they had received towards this work!). He mentioned that a new officer, Peter Lambeth, will take the bridleway work at the head of the Dale forward to link with Newby Head and explained the delay caused by a late application to register this as a permissive bridleway. Paul confirmed that motorised vehicles were not allowed on bridleways, and urged people to provide details of illegal use of 4 x 4's etc. to be passed on to himself or the local police officer.

Concerns were expressed over the deterioration of road surfaces within the National Park, particularly minor roads being damaged by heavy timber lorries. It was suggested that uncut verges frequently conceal the fact that surface water has washed the gutters away leaving deep ditches on which cars easily become 'bottomed' when pulling onto the side to allow oncoming traffic to pass. Mrs. Bentham complained of 8' ditches on the Deepdale Road between Outrake Foot and Holly Bush and said these had repeatedly been reported to Cumbria County Council Highways Hotline. Paul confirmed that a very different response was forthcoming from North Yorkshire County Council.

Councillor Nicholson asked that people report any highway problems to him as well as to the Highways Hotline on 0845 609 6609.

OPEN FORUM &

COMMUNITY NOTICEBOARD A resident commented that the Forum had not had a report from police or councillors on travellers moving through the area to Appleby Horse Fair this year, and suggested that the situation in the Sedbergh/ Cautley area had been far worse than last year. Other residents at the meeting supported this view. An article in a recent edition of Your Cumbria on the Respect campaign which targets anti -social behaviour was cited as a desirable standard. It was also recognised that the joint protocol for unauthorised encampments was a good model and some concerns about how the protocol could be enforced were expressed.

Sedbergh Parish Council representatives reported that the Parish Council was taking these issues very seriously and has attended meetings with the police and strength of feeling and local other agencies over the past few months.

Kirkby Lonsdale had not been affected as much this year, but suggested a public meeting should be lot of goodwill for travellers but that held on the final report on Appleby Fair from officers of SLDC, CCC and the Police, with the opportunity to add their comments.

Sinead McCann said the Liaison Group hasn't completed its review of the event and that some drop-ins were being arranged in Eden for people to register their concerns.

A number of residents gave examples of incidents and their experiences in the period around the Horse Fair. These reflected the concerns.

District Councillor Ian McPherson confirmed everything which had been said. He felt historically people have a this is being eroded and that every year brings issues. Before the 2009 Horse Fair, plans must be in place to ensure Sedbergh is not overlooked. This needs attention at the highest level.

Councillor Nicholson said all the comments would go to both the Chief Executive of Cumbria County Council and the Chief Constable. The Forum agreed with this suggestion.

St ANDREW'S CHURCH, SEDBERGH

Your Parish Church.

After a hectic two weeks with the Music Festival, this is reported elsewhere in the Lookaround. we have had a very busy time entertaining Bishop David and Mrs. Lily Lai and the Reverend Charles and Mrs. Maryjo Chen from Taiwan. They were here in England to attend The Lambeth Conference. Their crowded programme started in Sedbergh on Sunday 13th July meeting and taking tea with members of the congregation. This was followed by Choral Evensong, the Address was given by Bishop David. During the course of the following two days, they visited Sedbergh Primary School for morning assembly. Met with Ernest and Monica Cousins and Susan Sharrocks for tea. They were then taken to Rydal Hall at Ambleside for a pre-Lambeth lunch. Sampled a sail in the Windermere steamer and then were taken to Cartmel Priory. Probably had a more relaxed time, with Robert and Sheila Lee who gave them dinner. Their daughter Catherine has taught in schools in Taiwan for seven years and has now moved on to the University at Taipei. where she teaches English and Bible studies to students, adults and the Clergy.

The following day there was a meeting with representatives of Churches Together at the Quaker Meeting House at Brigflatts .This was a very informal occasion, with the visiting group learning a little more about Quakerism, how their meetings are organised and run, and the inevitable question, how do they fund their activities? The answer, very much in the same way as St. Andrew's does, self funding. Quaker Meeting Houses are divided into groups or clusters, each cluster sharing their revenue. Their main advantage though, they do not have the extra burden of paying for a Minister and his or her pension!

After lunch with Eric and Judith Ryder, they were taken on a tour of the locality and its Churches by Rosemary Lord, Alan Fell, and the Ryders.

Their visit was concluded with a buffet supper hosted by Anne and Tony Reed Screen. This was a very happy and relaxed occasion. We were able to stroll around the garden and take in the stunning views that surround Birks House. Reverend Charles Chen remarked on how very beautiful our countryside is, saying how 'industrialised' much of the Taiwan is. Taiwan is about the size of Wales and has a population of roughly 26 million, although a very beautiful country, the country-side is not available on their 'door-step'.

On a more domestic note, Alan Fell has been remarkably busy so far this year. Apart from the normal day to day Church Services, he has conducted seven Christenings, with certainly one more to come, four weddings, with more to follow, and nine funerals. Most people who live in and around Sedbergh will have known many of the participants at these gatherings and needless to say, been part of the occasion, illustrating we think, how central St. Andrew's Church is to the life of the Town.

By the time this addition of the Lookaround is published we will have had the annual Vicarage B.B.Q. (we hope for a dry day), and look forward to the 'Bric a Brac' sale on 27th September at 11am in the People's Hall. Also a Coffee Morning in the U. R.C. Rooms on 24th September.

We again include our Gift Aid Form for anyone who may like to support the work of the church.

PEPPERPOT MUSIC MAKERS

Sedbergh Pepperpot Club held its 11th AGM and Summer Party on Wednesday, July 16th 2008, a day earlier than planned in order not to clash with Martin Bell's visit to Sedbergh. The meeting, attended by 28 Members, quickly accomplished the business that was necessary, so that attention could be concentrated upon the delicious Jacobs Join contributions which had been brought along. The evening was kindly hosted by Dr Gina Barney at Knott House, Cautley, previously the home of Dr Cyril Noble, the first President of Sedbergh Pepperpot Club, and where the very first AGM and Summer Party took place. After we had eaten, the rain held off sufficiently for those with appropriate footwear to try to identify the trees in the Arboretum and also to attempt to solve the Maze Mowing Conundrum. In the Arboretum are several inter-connecting grass paths which need to be mown periodically. The Conundrum was to discover how this could be done without covering the same ground twice except on the perimeter path which could be mown twice. Gina provided a beautifully drawn plan to help in solving the problem.

Gina writes "Two people offered solutions to the Maze Mowing Conunudrum. One (John Mounsey) has a start point in the middle of the maze, thus requiring helicopter assistance, and a finish in the far corner. The other, by Tony Hannam, starts and finishes by the entrance, but requires one short distance to be mown twice. So although he has failed, I declare Tony the best winner. I will adopt his solution after I have erected the necessary route numbers along the maze - a kind of 'mowing by numbers'.

"John Mounsey excelled however in 'name that tree'. I will now be able to say more than 'tree' when people ask 'what is that?' Thank you John."

The primary-aged Pepperpot Music Makers orchestra has just completed a full year under the guidance of Noel Bertram, Penny Legat and Carole Gotham, and it is clearly thriving, following on the tradition so well established by Judith Bush and Ann Wright over the first seven years. In June, during the Sedbergh Music Festival, the Pepperpot Music Makers, young and old, took part in a Coffee Concert. Individual youngsters played solos, the orchestra performed a selection of their repertoire, the adults played a Fantasia by Purcell and finally all the players took part in a performance of The Toy Symphony. We are very grateful to Alan Adamson for lending us the music and toys. There was a large and appreciative audience. At the end of the concert, two of the older youngsters donned Pepperpot sweatshirts and rattled Pepperpot buckets by the exit and amazingly collected £100 for Pepperpot funds. It is just as well that extra funds are forthcoming because the number of 'peppercorns' coming in is getting less - possibly because Sedbergh is so full of events these days! - and demands on the funds continue to grow. For instance, as well as subsidising individual music lessons, we have given grants to five youngsters who will attend Young String Venture, part of Lake District Summer Music, in August. This will help towards their fees and considerable daily travelling costs. The older generation are hoping to do their bit to swell the funds in August. The members of the Pepperpot Quartet have been invited - for the second year running - to play at a conference in Barrow entitled 'Celebrating Age'. (We have to be over 50 to take part!) We have been promised a fee for our services and this will go straight into Pepperpot funds. We are also delighted and extremely grateful that the Trustees of Sedbergh United Charities have awarded Sedbergh Pepperpot Club a generous grant towards the purchase of musical instruments. We plan to use this sum to help to satisfy a current need for an instrument not in our stock. As always, we are greatly indebted to our Members, Friends and Sponsors who provide the backbone of support for what Sedbergh Pepperpot Club is able to do.

So many people have kindly donated instruments that our stock is now valued at almost £20,000. The instruments are either on loan already or available to lend out. Do let us know of anyone who could benefit. Borrowers range from the very young to the retired, although adults are aware that they must relinquish an instrument if it is needed by a youngster. Occasionally an instrument which is lying fallow is lent to the Pepperpot Club. Two such instruments are currently out on loan, a viola to a young teacher and a full size cello, hurriedly lent to a boy who had outgrown his 3/4 size cello. He wanted to be able to use it during his last lesson of the term next day. He was so keen that he immediately set to work that evening to adjust to the new instrument and then rang us up to say how much he liked it and how he could more easily produce a vibrato to improve his tone. Next day he played to his teacher without mentioning anything and his teacher did not notice he had a different instrument, but part way through the lesson, he said that he thought he was playing particularly well and how his vibrato had improved. Only then was he informed about the change! We are certainly very fortunate in the quality of instruments we have available - and in the enthusiasm of the youngsters

To round off our year of Pepperpot events, we are very much looking forward to our trip to Liverpool on August 20th, by coincidence an auspicious date - 20.08.2008 - during Liverpool's year as European Capital of Culture. There are 24 of us planning to go by coach. There will be a visit to the Klimt Exhibition at Tate Liverpool, a boat trip on the Mersey, a visit to Croxteth House and a meal at the Italian Orchard, near Preston, to round off the day. But before that we have the joys of Lake District Summer Music in store. . .

AUGUST GARDENING

Sometimes the most unlikely plants are the best things for wildlife. This vear my most successful bee plant has turned out to be an ornamental bramble; Rubus cockburnianus 'Goldenvale'. This plant is grown primarily for its white stems which light up the border in the depths of winter, 'Goldenvale' has the added attraction of beautiful yellow, ferny foliage amongst which the rather insignificant racemes of small pink flowers are born in early summer. They may be insignificant to human eves but are obviously bee heaven as the whole bush buzzed and hummed with busy bumble bees throughout the flowering time. Fruit produced is Backstonegill Cottage, Dent, Sedbergh, Cumbria, LA10 5TE small and uninteresting, and as the main function of the plant is to produce a crop of fresh white stems for winter interest, the plant has to be pruned hard each year with all the flowered stems being removed and the young white stems left. I usually do this job in August, preferably on a dry day when I won't be soaked by the overhanging foliage. Pruning ornamental brambles requires a good deal of crawling around amongst prickles so I always put on my thickest donkey jacket, a large wide brimmed rain hat, waterproof leggings and thick thorn proof gloves. These create quite a spectacle on a hot summers day (as witnessed by a casual visitor who came to enquire about a local campsite) but they do ensure that I come through the experience mostly unscathed. Rubus 'Goldenvale' grows to a height of 7-8 feet so it needs to be at the back of a border, but with a clear view of the bright white stems in the depths of winter. Herbaceous perennials which die back after flowering are ideal planting partners. Mine is flanked by rich blue Aconitum 'Spark's Variety' and glaucous leaved, pale yellow flowered Thalictrum flavum 'Glaucum'. In front is an herbaceous Clematis with pale blue, highly scented flowers (C. heracleifolia) and for early spring interest the whole area is underplanted with snowdrops.

I am always relieved when the annual pruning session is over, but the plant is so attractive all through the year that it is well worth all the trouble.

COUNCILLORS CORNER

I make no apology for returning once again to the subject of Gypsies/ Travellers. I attended a specially convened meeting in Barbon Village Hall on the 4th July together with representatives from all the Parish Councils in the Ward, officers from South Lakeland District Council, from the Police. local business interests. and one of my District Council colleagues (Councillor Kevin). The meeting was chaired by a County Council officer with particular experience of working with Travellers County wide and beyond. Forceful views were expressed, especially by those individuals and groups who had been on the receiving end of some of the problems experienced whilst the Gypsies were with us, and the Police and County Council in particular were left in no doubt as to the strength of local feeling on this issue. Personally I found the meeting constructive and it was agreed that we should continue to meet during the year leading up to next June with a strong commitment to come up with solutions to the problems/challenges which exercised us this time round. The next meeting is scheduled for September.

Another matter continuing to concern us all is the state of the highways and roads in our area. It's amazing how often the subject of potholes comes up in the course of conversation! The solution being proposed by the Highways Authority (Cumbria County Council) is the Highways Stewards Scheme. This involves the appointment of a local person charged with the responsibility of dealing with small routine matters like blocked drains and culverts. cutting back vegetation, cleaning road signs and, yes, doing temporary repairs to potholes! The steward will spend a few days in each Parish on a rotational basis and his work schedule will be created as a result either of calls to the Highways Hotline or with direct contact between him and the Parish Representative appointed by the Parish Council. The scheme is funded by the County Council. The whole matter was discussed at Parish Council meetings throughout the area and also at a special meeting in the Peoples Hall which I attended. Parish Council members expressed a number of concerns which they had about the scheme and the County Council Officers present were subject to some 28th July. searching questioning. However all agreed that we should give it a fair run to see how it worked and then have another meeting with County Council representatives in about six months time. The steward for our Ward (and a number of Parishes beyond our Ward boundaries) is Rob Winder.

Dent Parish continues to work with unabated enthusiasm on its Parish Plan. All three of your District Councillors recently met with members of the Parish Plan Steering Committee and subsequently Peter and I met with the same reps and local MP Tim Farron to take matters further. Anyone interested in knowing more can visit the Dentdale website. I must say that I am personally very impressed with the energy and enthusiasm which has gone into the Plan's production so far. Peter and I wish it well and will continue to support it in whatever way we can (for example I am currently investigating the introduction of cardboard and plastic recycling in Dent itself).

One "perk" of being a District Councillor is that it vastly increases one's knowledge of the local area. On the 1st June, Kirkby Lonsdale Town Council hosted a Town Walk for all of your District Councillors giving us an opportunity at first hand to see the particular challenges and areas of concern affecting the town. A similar walk to be hosted by Casterton Parish Council was planned for the 28th July.

Peter attended his first meeting of Garsdale Parish Council on the 3rd June. I was at Sedbergh Parish Council's meeting that same night and was very interested to listen to a presentation by the Headmaster and Bursar of Sedbergh School regarding the proposed return of the Junior School to the town.

The proposed new Sedbergh Health Centre and relocation of the Spar are very much uppermost in the minds of many people in Sedbergh and District and, make no mistake, this is a critical decision having long term consequences for the future of the area and the life-choices of all those who live here. I can only echo the sentiments of Councillor Kevin expressed in July's issue of the Lookaround and urge as many of you as possible to express your views on the proposals before a final decision is made. You can't complain afterwards if you don't make your opinion known now!

THANDI TALES VI

It seems a little strange sitting here at The Cross keys writing about the Thandi project which is now some 6500 miles away. However this report is going to sound like the Sharon and Edwina story.

As most people know Sharon and Edwina who work at Thandi came to the UK to gain experience in all aspects of the hospitality industry and their enthusiasm, hard work and constant good humour has made our return to the Cross Keys after three years away so much easier to cope with. They are now well over half way through their stay and will return to South Africa on the 10th September.

About a week before we left South Africa some friends from Scarborough were coming back to the UK so we took the opportunity of introducing the girls to Cape Town airport which we thought was a useful exercise to give them foresight as to what to expect at the airport, I think Cape Town airport is one of the easiest airports I have used. We flew Emirates which we are told is a very good airline and as we had to watch our costs we found they were offering very good rates.

On the day we left the girls family came to see them off so we had a few tears at the airport and lots of instructions to look after them and to make sure they came home.

We passed through all the formalities and had a good flight to Dubai where we had to wait for three hours before our flight to Manchester.

At check in the girls were stopped and told that Emirates would have to check with the British Embassy before they would be allowed to board the plane despite the fact that they carried letter from us stating where they would be training and staying plus letters from the Thandi Charity stating that they would return to South Africa in September and would not be a burden on the state during their stay and, of course, they had their return tickets. After what seemed an eternity their passports were returned and they were allowed through. I had anticipated questions at Manchester so I went through the "non-residents" gate with Sharon and Edwina. Yes we were questioned by an immigration official but once she had read the letters she stamped their passports.

During their stay here we have tried to take them out and about whenever possible and have done tours of the Lakes and the Dales. We also went to Gretna Green and the visited the Blacksmiths shop where they bought souvenirs to take back home. They also had their photograph taken with the obliging piper in full highland dress. Last weekend we all went to visit our friends in Scarborough who work with us on the Thandi project. They have holiday apartment so we stayed with them on Sunday and Monday night returning to the Cross Keys late Tuesday. On Monday we did the grand tour of Scarborough including the slot machines and ice creams. We tried to get Edwina to have a donkey ride but she flatly refused adding that the donkey would be eternally grateful. They did go our to sea on a speed boat which did a few sharp turns and bounced along and on her return Sharon exclaimed that she had never done anything as exciting in her life and had screamed most of the way.

Tuesday we went to Robin Hoods Bay which they found fascinating but could not understand why the streets were so narrow and steep and the houses so close together. South Africa is a relative new country as far as building is concerned so it has little material and for the weekly chicken of the quaintness of some of our villages. We ventured on to Whitby and had a good wander around and had fish and chips at what our friends tell us is the worlds best chippy.

Maybe we should take them to Blackpool next and we should certainly take them to London but that will be a bit more expensive so we will have to wait and see.

They have settled into the English way of life very well and I even caught them watching Coronation Street (groan from Chris).

If you ask them what the big difference is they say they found it strange to see white men emptying dustbins and digging holes and isn't everything very green!

Thandi Farm Kitchen (restaurant) has now been taken over by the Thandi Farm so that should guarantee their long term viability. The container that left the Cross Keys is now with our local school at Thandi and is being converted into a kitchen, the second container has now arrived. at the village with much needed medical equipment including defibrillators, ECG machines, nebulisers, hospital beds, an ambulance and lots of "goodies" from our friends in Killington WI.

We now have sufficient funds to build our crèche and reading room but we are still fund raising for the fittings, furniture, books and games. We hope to start building in September when the girls return.

Once again thank you from Thandi for all your help both financial and dinner that is making such a difference to the children's lives.

to learn some Slovene songs and join choirs from other parts of England, you are welcome to come to workshops at the People's Hall on Saturday August 30 from 10am-4pm. Unlike many choirs many of the singers are aged 15-20, so please don't feel you have to be over 50 to join us - though of course you are very welcome if you are. CONCERTS - The concert in the evening of Saturday August 30 includes our Slovene guests Oktet, as common delicacies to be offered to well as singers from the South Lakeland BBC award winning youth choir Amabile, a girls' choir from Durham, singers from Lakeland Voices and other local groups. Oktet are also singing in Lancaster's Gregson community centre in the evening of Wednesday August 27, August 29.. SINGING WALKS - You are also very welcome to join Oktet on walks with local singers. On Thursday August 28 there will be a bus at 2.15pm to take everyone to a walk from the Cross Keys down the Cautley valley along with our very own Cautley Carollers, following the river by the homes of the intrepid singers who have made the name of Cautley famous (and unpronounceable) in such far flung places as Zreče and Naples (where they came first in the International Drinking Song competition.) And on Sunday August 31 at 10am there will be a circular walk with Oktet and the women singers, Five in a Bar, who

and in Kendal on Friday lunchtime

made their debut singing at the WORKSHOPS - if you would also like : Sportsman's Inn 10 years ago and are now well known throughout the region for their stunning harmonies. Both walks start at Balliol School and will include singing at local beauty spots. Children and dogs are welcome. Tickets are available from the TIC or by ringing Sedbergh 21166.

POTICA - SLOVENE CAKE COMPETITION

Those who have been to Slovenia will know that two of the most visitors by way of hospitality are the blueberry brandy known as Borovničevec, and the festive nut cake Potica (pronounced Paw-teetsa.)

Now we have the chance to repay some of this tasteful generosity with a potica cake competition, the fruits of which will go towards welcoming the 15 plucky young Slovene singers who are coming to Sedbergh at the end of the month to do concerts with local choirs, meet Sedbergh's Slovene language students and singers, and join walkers singing through many of our local beauty spots.

The cakes will be judged by the choir's leader Gregor Delaja and the winner will receive two free tickets to the Saturday night concert or singing walks. All the runners up will receive one free ticket.

The language students have already tried the recipe, and the fruits of these labours will be tasted by visitors from the Slovene embassy coming to Sedbergh at the end of July. Unless you hear that they have not lived, you can guarantee that this recipe makes the perfect Potica:

Ingredients:

Dough: 600g flour. 40g yeast. 2 tbsp lukewarm milk. 2 tbsp flour. 1 tbsp sugar. 2 egg yolks. 50 g butter. 50g sugar. 300 ml milk. peel of one lemon. salt.

Filling: 400g walnuts. 200ml milk. lemon peel. 1tsp cinnamon. 2 tbsp rum. 100g sugar. 100g honey. 2 egg whites. 40g butter.

Sift the flour into a bowl, cover and put in a warm place. Prepare the yeast: mix fresh yeast with two tablespoons of flour and a teaspoon of sugar then stir and allow to rise in a warm place. In the meantime, whisk the fat, egg yolks or whole eggs and sugar. Warm the milk gently, add salt, grated lemon peel and the prepared mixture of fat, eggs and sugar; allow to cool. Make a dough from the warmed flour, milk and yeast mixture (do not use all the milk at once, add it gradually and only if and when necessary.) Knead and beat the dough until it no longer sticks to the bowl, then cover it with a cloth and put it in a warm place to rise.

In the meantime, prepare the filling. Pour the milk into the pan, add the butter and half the sugar and bring to the boil; use the hot mixture to scald the walnuts. Warm the honey separately and add it to the walnuts, together with the grated lemon peel, cinnamon and rum. Let the mixture cool. Beat the egg whites and the remaining sugar until hard and fold carefully into the filling.

When the dough has doubled in size, roll it out to the thickness of one finger. Spread the filling over it and roll into a tight roulade, then place the Potica in a greased baking tin. Allow to rise again in a warm place.

Whisk an egg, spread it over the cake and bake for approximately one hour in a preheated oven. When it is done, remove the potica from the baking tin immediately to prevent the crust from becoming moist and breaking away from the rest of the cake.

To enter your Potica: please ring Sedbergh 21166 and bring your cake to the People's Hall on Saturday August 30 at 11.30am.

SETTLEBECK HIGH SCHOOL

Alternative Curriculum Week Year 10 Hospitality and Enterprise Activity

We visited the Lakeside Hotel at Newby Bridge to look at the hotel facilities. We did a marketing simulation for a PR company trying to find a hotel for a Premiership football club looking for a venue for a weekend away. We collected brochures, interviewed staff, checked out all the facilities and did costings for accommodation, meals, drinks and banquets.

We worked in teams and put together presentations as bids which showed that the Lakeside Hotel would be ideal for Man Utd players, Wags and directors. The facilities are superb, the lakeside setting makes it very special and there are lots of opportunities for exercise, shopping and socialising. We thought a champagne cruise on the Lakes steamer would be ideal for a photoshoot!

We are grateful to the owner and staff at Lakeside Hotel for making us so welcome and for their willingness to look after us for the day and provide facilities and lunch for us.

Reflections on the day:-

"This was a very good experience. We enjoyed looking at the spa and, its facilities are relaxing and it certainly made us want to come back!"

"It was interesting to see how the business works, all the different staff roles and the specialised catering facilities. It looks good, is a super hotel, quite expensive but it is 4 start, very plush!"

"I liked everything about it and would love to come back for a few days holiday!"

Contributions from Georgina Metcalfe, Dan Clark, Rose Bannister & Clare Thompson.

SEDBERGH SWIMMING CLUB

The lessons will recommence at the beginning of September – details in next month's Lookaround and in the dentist's window.

Last term's lessons ended with fun sessions and competitions; the intermediate Thursday group's competition results were as follows: 1st Hope Webster, 2nd Melissa Sproul and 3rd William Ellison. Well done to them - they have demonstrated superb progress.

See you next term when we will be learning how to use stop-watches to build on this progress! All children's lessons are run following the National Plan for Teaching Swimming (NPTS) as set down by the Amateur Swimming Assoc (ASA). Various badges and certificates are attained at each level.

"TRIAL by JURY"

As part of the 2008 Sedbergh Music Festival the Sedbergh Summer Singers and members of the Dent Players recently performed Gilbert and Sullivan's one-act operetta, "Trial by Jury" in the People's Hall, on Wednesday, 18 June.

This work, only the second of the famous pair's many collaborations, was the ideal choice for the occasion. Fortified and relaxed by virtue of an excellent pre-performance supper and accompanying harp music the performers and the audience were able to enjoy the musical qualities and the witticisms of the composer and librettist and the artistry with which Susan Gamett, the producer and Dervck Cox, the Musical Director, had moulded and enlivened the production.

The Summer Singers and Dent Players, in the guise of the ladies and gentlemen of the Jury, Press and Public, were in excellent supportive and/or antagonistic roles both vocally and visually and it was a delight to witness their total involvement in the hour-long proceedings.

The team of principals (too numerous to praise individually) thoroughly immersed themselves in their roles. Characterisation was strong, voices were projected effectively and diction was particularly admirable. Everybody acquitted themselves marvellously.

The attractive costumes were imaginative and colourful: the set was simple and not at all limited in effect by the diminutive dimensions of the stage and all was given an agreeable zest by the quality of the lighting. Deryck Cox and Alexa Wightman, on their two pianos at the front of the stage, stabilised and guided the entire performance with the degree of skill and musicianship that they both invariably deliver. Sedbergh has always been proud of its vibrant and multi-talented community and this production (and, indeed, the whole Festival) illuminated that so well.

Brian Paynes.

YOUNG CUMBRIA FASHION SHOW

Four Year 10 girls from Settlebeck High School held a successful Fashion show in the Peoples hall, Sedbergh on Friday 20th June. They organised it themselves and 15 young people from Sedbergh and surrounding areas strutted up and down the cat walk much to the delight of the audience. They were served non alcoholic cocktails and canapes and have raised £158.00 for Youth Club funds.

We would like to thank everyone who helped make this event so successful, from the Church and Sedbergh School Brass Band for the loan of the cat walk and stage setting, Steve and Andrew for the lighting and sound system, to all the local businesses and members of the community who donated raffle prizes, the many volunteers who helped on the night, Anton for the canapes and of course our talented young people who strutted their stuff on the night.

HOWGILL W. I.

On June 25th we met at Broadleys, Windermere. The weather was damp and overcast. Following coffee and a guided tour of the house the sun shone and we were able to enjoy the gardens and the views. We travelled on to the Ladyholme Centre where we were given a warm welcome by the ladies of Windermere W. I. who provided a lovely tea all ready for us. We then popped in to Rosemary's Garden at Troutbeck rounding off what we all agreed was a wonderful, memorable day. Thanks were expressed to Anita for the efficient organising.

We met at Howgill on July 3rd for our Open Meeting. It was well attended with quests and members from Dent and Frostrow W. I. We were pleased to welcome Duncan Campbell who introduced us to a different method of cooking. Low fat. low temperature and low moisture, by using the "I Cook" range of cookware. Delicious, nutritious, money saving meals were dished up in minutes for us to try. By conducting heat efficiently and evenly food contains over a third more vitamins than conventional cooked food. The meals looked good and tasted delicious.

Mary Silva thanked Duncan for entertaining us with his humorous demonstration, feeding us, and surprising us. The "I Cook" cookware comes with a lifetime guarantee and a price tag.

The competition for an old family recipe was won by Joan Luffman with Judith Stainton second. Raffle winners were Hilary Wilson, Hilary Charlton and Mary Silva.

The social, a quiz to name the food and drink, was won by Hilary Wilson and Bridget Postlethwaite. Our tempting Jacobs Join brought the evening to a close.

We meet again on August 7th at Howgill Village Hall when guest speaker will be John Natlacen from Cheese Mouse Cheeses. Everyone welcome.

POINT TAKEN

Long gone are the days of a local ambulance covering a local area. Vehicles and ambulance crews can travel all over the county or as far as Newcastle and Preston in any one shift. When you need help it is not necessarily going to be the ambulance from the nearest station coming to you.

Staff used to live within 10 minutes of the station but not anymore, staff now join us from different areas of the country.

Sedbergh station only has two of the old staff left, myself and John Haygarth, we being the dinosaurs can remember quite a few of the addresses in Sedbergh and the surrounding areas but as we age the old grey matter begins to forget. We cannot rely on local knowledge anymore.

North West Ambulance Service wants anyone who thinks that their property might be hard to find in an emergency to contact us at www. nwas.nhs.uk/pointtaken or call 0845 1120019.

The Trust also wants to know if there will be any difficulties getting to your property i.e. the ambulance will not get up the lane but a car will and that type of thing. Please inform the Point Taken team know anything which might help us save time.

I also ask you to go out to the end of your drive, lane or gate and look to see if your house name or number is clearly visible and think, would it be visible at 2am? Some house numbers are too small, names are put on gates but when they're open they cannot be seen clearly.

PLEASE ensure the entrance to your property is clearly visible. At 2am one morning we might be trying to FIND YOU. Time wasted driving up and down the road looking for an address could mean the difference between being in this world or being in the next. Steve Moore

WENSLEYDALE RAILWAY

Steam returns in August

Following the success of last year's steam train service when passenger numbers tripled, locomotive No 80105 is making a return visit to Wensleydale Railway this summer between Friday August 15 to Sunday September 7.

Meanwhile regular DMU services run every day until the end of September. On steam dates they provide a feeder service to the steam operation; on all other dates they operate between Leeming Bar and Redmire. There will be extra trains during the 1940s week-end on August 30/31, with re-enactors on the trains, war-time food and evening dances. It is hoped that many passengers will dress in appropriate costume during the week-end.

Yorkshire Day, August 1, will be celebrated with Yorkshire food served on trains and at stations. There will also be Yorkshire Pudding Walks (6 mile guided walks with lunch in a local pub) on both Friday August 1 and Sunday August 3. A special walk will be led on Friday August 22 by Mark Reid, author of 16 Inn-Way books on walks linking local pubs. More details on www. wensleydalerailway.com or phone Leyburn TIC on 01748 828747.

AN OPEN INVITATION TO ITALY

Would you like an autumn visit to Italy? A group from Sedbergh will be going to the Rome area again in mid-October. These regular visits arise from the Italian classes at Sedbergh and Kirkby Lonsdale but there are usually spare places and there is an open invitation to anyone who loves Italy to come with us.

We shall be leaving on October 16th join other interested persons on the and returning on the 23rd. The week includes a full day in Rome (The Forum, The Pantheon, the Spanish Steps, Piazza Navona and the Trevi Fountain) and a full day in Naples with a visit to the Park of virgil, views over the Bay to Capri and Sorrento from a spectacular restaurant where we can experience the genuine Piazza Margherita (which originated there) and a coach tour of that historic city. We shall got to the lovely outdoor market in Atina and have lunch at the farm where English writer D.H.Lawrence wrote one of his novels on the edge of the Abruzzo National Park. Among other things you will have the chance to visit the Palace of the Popes at Anagni, and to join our light-hearted classes where we learn about Italian life and language. The total cost, including flight, coach in Italy and virtually fullboard, looks like being in the region of £650 per person - though it is important to realise that costs are rising in Italy in very much the same way as here (in particular, food and fuel). Those who have been before know how the family makes us so welcome at the hotel. A comment from one of our trip-members - "one of the best holidays ever - a box of secret delights every day!"

If you are interested please contact me on 015396 21411 or e-mail gd@the-hylands.co.uk

SAFER CYCLING

Hello again. The Kirkby Lonsdale bus is now a happy community experience, with between eight to twelve people using this service. The four plus from Barbon are a great help.

Earlier this week, the local school children have been taking their Cycling Proficiency Badge. Cycling up and down and round Maryfell, its good to think these young children are learning the rules of the road, also using clear hand signals, though sometimes with a bit of a wobble! All the children had helmets on, so what happens afterwards is a mystery, as I very rarely see helmets at weekends or in the evenings.

It is up to the parents and teachers to make sure that helmets are worn at all times. I personally would like to see the wearing of head protection made law as it is in Canada and other countries. I think adults could set a better example by wearing helmets. So happy and safe cycling to all.

JOE UREN - OBITUARY

Many people in the Dent and Sedbergh area will remember Joe Uren. In Dent he was a regular attender at the Parish Church, a member of the Tuesday Coffee Morning and a good friend to many.

He would often be around to help at community events and looked after the mowing and general upkeep of the Methodist graveyard. He loved to stop for coffee at the house next to St. Gregory's Church and buy the home made marmalade.

Born in the Northeast to a mining family he went to college in York and trained as a teacher. During the war he co-wrote a book, worked with the Anti-Aircraft Division and the PT Core RSM. After the war he taught in Hamburg with the BFES and then became Headmaster of a school in Berlin. He received the MBE for services to education and at one time was acting Principal of Lancashire Education College in Chorley.

He died peacefully on July 17th.

HOT AND COLD

During the damp July weather, there has been a display in the window of the Sedbergh pharmacy (soon to become Boots) about the government's "five a day" a scheme. I often ask my acupuncture clients what they habitually eat and I have noticed that busy people often translate "five a day" into "four pieces of fruit during the day and vegetable or salad with the evening meal". Although this is within the spirit of the government guidelines, it does not take into account the effect on the body of eating this amount of raw fruit these types of food and drink is likely and vegetables on a daily basis. One of the most often quoted causes of disease in the traditional Chinese medicine system is "too much cold raw food". Cold raw food slows down the digestion and metabolism and this is particularly true in a cold, damp climate, such as we have here. The result can be problems of overweight, excess mucous or even, according to Chinese medicine, "cold" diseases such as hypothyroidism.

In our climate, most people would do well to think of "five a day, at least four of which are cooked and eaten warm". Lunching on bread, tomatoes and olives works fine on holiday in Greece, but not so well at home.

In addition, some types of food are said to be "damp producing", because they have the same slowing effect on the body that damp weather does. If damp weather affects you at all, you might find you feel better if you limit your consumption of dairy produce. wheat flour, refined sugar and fatty food.

The opposite problem is food which overheats the body. Heating foods include, curry spices, cinnamon, ginger (especially dried ginger) and garlic. Alcoholic drinks are also heating, particularly drinks with a high alcohol content such as spirits, liqueurs and fortified wines. If you have any kind of "hot" disease, such as hot flushes: hot and painful joints: feelings of heat in the legs: red and sore eyes; repeated sore throats; cellulitis; stomach acidity or reflux: red and itchy skin conditions any of to make it worse.

In particular, some companies market supplements containing garlic, ginger and cinnamon, without warning of the heating effects. If you suffer from any type of heat symptoms, it is not advisable for you to take these supplements regularly, except possibly for a very short time to resolve a particular problem.

I realise that, to some extent, I am repeating myself in this article. However recent events have shown that some people are still not aware of these issues and are unwittingly damaging themselves by the way they eat and drink.

I hope, that by the time you read this in August, the weather will no longer be guite so cool and damp so that you may be able to allow yourself the occasional salad. If you would like more detailed information about this subject, please get in touch. My telephone number is (015396) 20972. June Parker

After an absence of some months Photo Call is back.

This month's photo belonged to the late Freda Trott and is now the property of Sedbergh and District History Society. It shows teachers and pupils from the National School (now the telephone exchange) posing on forms in the street outside the school. I don't think Health and Safety: would allow that today! We estimate that the photo was taken about 1900. There is a list of names on the back but these do not appear to be in any order. I am hoping that maybe out there someone has a copy of this photo complete with names. It would be wonderful to be able to identify the sitters as many of them will still have descendants still living in the town. Just one identification would be a bonus. If a larger, clearer copy is needed please let me know. My contact numbers are Shirley Tebay,

EDITORIAL

We have, I think, one of the best communities in the country but I have a few observations to make which I feel lets our community down.

The litter and dog dirt issue still continues. Why? I feel sure that the day someone in authority takes action and either Fines or takes someone to court, there will be an uproar.

Another problem I feel strongly about is posters around the town. They make Sedbergh look like a Shabby Run Down Town. The only thing missing are the 'Call Cards' left in phone boxes. One of the reasons Lookaround was started in 1986 was the appearance of a vast amount of Posters around the town which were only seen by a few. When the information appears in our pages, they are seen by over 5,000 people.

Last month, I tried to emphasis the importance of vehicles slowing down and respecting others. On the day Lookaround was available, the A684 road at Pot Gill, Garsdale Foot was shut for many hours after 3 motorcycles crashed into an HGV. It was potentially Fatal and I believe it was dealt with as such.

I am sure that there have been no 'locals' involved in road incidents recently. Let us hope it continues. I did see a recent TV documentary regarding speeding on the continent and how many thousands have been 'on the spot fined', vehicles seized and licences lost, BUT, the accident rate had been reduced by 66%. All I can say is "wow, it does work".

Last February, local Councillors met with the Chief Constable of Cumbria Police and I was invited to attend. The main issue was the Travelling Fraternity (see previous issues) but I requested Police input into the Lookaround as there had not been any since I retired. I was assured that I would receive some. In March, I am aware that there was a serious Crime reported to the Police. There was no report or feed-back. In July, the Assistant Chief Constable was on TV requesting the help from the public with intelligence to help catch criminals. I was disappointed as in June, I rang the Force with information and asked to be contacted. I am still waiting for that call and receive any other information. I do have other observations but it would not be prudent to print them.
